

THE ART STUDIO

WORKSHOP

Two-Day Workshop

Saturdays | 9:30am - 4:30pm

January 30th, 2010

February 6th, 2010

Tuition | $175

So you would like to learn how to use Photoshop? Even if you already have a basic knowledge of Photoshop, in this two-day workshop you will learn all of the essential Adobe Photoshop tools, tricks, and techniques used by professional photographers, graphic designers, and digital artists everywhere. We will begin by customizing a workspace and understanding the various tools available, and finish with an advanced digital collage. If you are new to the digital design world, this class will teach you how to effectively communicate your ideas in graphic design terms. This class will be completing various graphic design tutorials in hopes that students will walk away with a firm understanding of Photoshop.

Materials: Students must have a laptop or desktop computer (Mac or PC) with Adobe Photoshop installed (CS2, CS3, or CS4)

Instructor: James Tanner has been working as a freelance and professional graphic designer for the past decade. With a passion for the digital arts he has been working with web design, printed media, and some basic animation. James has been celebrated for his flair for corporate and consumer art that has been recognized during his work on product marketing and advertisement campaigns for SEGAameworks, John Paul Mitchell Systems, Swartzkopf Cosmetics, Artease Colors, and many more. James is currently operating his own creative design team in Seal Beach, CA.
